GAMENESS IS KEEPING WILSON ALIVE

SCANDAL INVESTIGATORS DEFIED BY FALL

WOMAN WIELDS IRON POKER IN DEFENSE OF HER HOME

INTRUDER IS WORSTED IN HOT BATTLE

Mrs. Flora Pratt Forces Pretended Federal Official to Retreat

MAN KNOCKED DOWN 6 TIMES

Police Compliment Her on Bravery Displayed in Encounter

Defending her home against invasion early Saturday by a man who declared himself to be a United States marshal, Mrs. Flora Pratt, 522 E. Eureka-st., not only forced the man from her door early Saturday, but so severely beat him that he had to be carried away by two friends.

Aroused from her bed at 1 a. m. Saturday Mrs. Pratt saw that an automobile containing three men had driven up alongside her home, and that one of them was demanding to see a former resident there.

Mrs. Levern Hutchinson, a sister-in-law of Mrs. Pratt, also an occupant of the house, told him that the woman he sought was not there, and gave him her address. Mrs. Pratt, who opened the door, gave him what information she had at hand, and asked him to leave. Sneering at her, and using insulting and profane language, he made as if to strike the woman, who turned on him and struck him squarely on the nose. He staggered out of the house, across the small porch, and fell on the grass. Undaunted, he started back, only to be met with such a shower of blows about the head and shoulders that he was again knocked down. By this time, Mrs. Pratt had obtained the stove poker, a short, massive metal instrument and, desperate, repelled his advances as fast as he made them.

Six times he was knocked down, the last time, almost knocked out, by the high-powered steam his two companions lifted the pseudo-marshal into it and sped away.

Levern Hutchinson, brother of Mrs. Pratt, arrived at her side near the end of the fracas, and helped his sister, who had been injured during the battle, into the house.

Police were called, and Detective Hargrove and Godfrey investigated the case. Mrs. Pratt not only was complimented for her bravery, but was told that she did perfectly well in beating the men off.

"If they come again," she told The News Saturday, "they'll go down in an ambulance."

She showed few marks of the contact, Saturday.

LUNCHEON AND TALKS ARE SERVED UP TO SCHOLARS

Children of McBeth school were given a lunch Friday by the county section of the normal school class under Jesse M. Stager's direction. C. A. Ruster, principal, and the other teachers in the school have provided the school with the necessary equipment for serving these semi-weekly lunches.

All the members of the Shawnee Board of Education were present. They are: James F. Ruster, Elias Boyer, Seth Adgate, C. W. Brewbaker and Charles F. Sprague.

After lunch the pupils assembled in one of the rooms and sang a number of songs for the benefit of the board members, teachers and normal school students. The board members, in turn, gave a number of short talks to the pupils.

TWO MEN HELD IN GIRL'S MURDER

Arrests Made at Rochester, N. Y., in Mysterious Killing At Canton—Body of Victim, Weighted Down With Stones, Found In Creek

CANTON—(United Press)—Two Canton detectives left this morning for Rochester to bring back two Rochester men, held on charges of suspicion in the murder of Florence Nitzman, 19, whose body weighted down with stones, was found in Nimishillen Creek, near her home yesterday.

The men were arrested last night by Rochester police after Canton authorities had wired them that two men from Rochester had attempted several days ago, to force the girl into an automobile and take her back east.

NOT DROWNED The theory that the girl was drowned was refuted when Coroner T. H. Shorb announced that an examination disclosed no water in the lungs.

Coroner Shorb also announced that he had found a number of marks on the girl's neck, but had not yet determined the cause of her death.

Miss Nitzman's body was found by Arthur Lowe, her cousin, in whose home she lived since coming here from Rochester last autumn. She was employed as an operator by the Ohio Bell Telephone Co., and had been missing since leaving her work Wednesday night.

Discovery of the girl's body recalls a similar tragedy a month ago, when the body of Miss Ruth Hunter, 18, was found in the outskirts of the city. Police have been unable to solve that murder.

ADMIT KNOWING GIRL ROCHESTER, N. Y.—(Associated Press)—Henry Bauer and Frank Hept, both 25 years of age, were arrested at their homes early today on request of the Canton, Ohio, police authorities, in connection with the death of Miss Florence Nitzman in that city. A telegraphic communication was received by Chief Quigley requesting that he arrest the men on "charges of murder, first degree."

At headquarters, it was said, the men gave a "straight story." Police also say they admitted knowing the Nitzman girl, but said they had left Canton on Tuesday, a day before the alleged murder. Miss Nitzman is a former resident of this city.

"SACRED OX" DIES IN FLAMES

Fire Breaks Out at Circus Headquarters in Connecticut

BRIDGEPORT, Conn.—(Associated Press)—Fire which destroyed the huge paint and blacksmith shop in the center of the group of buildings at the winter headquarters of the Ringling Brothers and Barnum and Bailey circus today created a wild panic among the animals in the menagerie and kept firemen and the keepers in the animal house busy for more than an hour before the fire was controlled.

A large black ox brought here by the circus from Italy and known as the "Sacred Ox," was burned to death in a pen just outside the burned structure. This was the animal's last night. An early estimate fixed the damage at $100,000.

The flames were discovered in the paint shop. As the flames shot up, accompanied by dense clouds of smoke, which penetrated the animal barns the roars of the lions, tigers and other caged beasts were mingled with the shouts and cries of the keepers who attempted to ally their fears.

In the elephant house about fifty feet from the burning structure the great beasts were bellowing in terror. Keepers seized blankets and threw them over the elephants' heads and succeeded in preventing them from breaking their chains.

A large number of wagon cages which were stored about the burned building were destroyed.

The cause of the fire is undetermined.

REFUSES TO TESTIFY AT DOME PROBE

Contempt Action May be Taken Against Ex-Secretary

M'ADOO DEMANDS HEARING

Challenges Statement Linking Him With Oil Leases

WASHINGTON—(Associated Press)—Haled before the senate oil committee today against the protest of his attorneys and physicians, former Interior Secretary Fall flatly refused to answer questions about the naval oil leases and his relations with Harry F. Sinclair and E. L. Doheny.

Fall gave two major reasons why he declined to reply. The first was that the authority given to the investigating committee by the last congress had expired and the second that in the light of the action of congress in directing institution of court action, civil and criminal, in the oil leases cases, any answers he would make might tend to incriminate him.

Clearing the hearing room of the crowd which jammed every available space, the committee went into executive session to determine their course in the light of the attitude of the former cabinet officer and senator. As the committee deliberated Fall waited with his lawyers and physicians in an anteroom.

STATEMENT READ The former secretary read a carefully prepared statement in an even and firm voice, setting forth in detail his reason for not answering the questions.

It was with some difficulty that a way was cleared thru the crowd for Fall to reach the witness chair. His counsel, Levi Cooke, in a preliminary statement, said the former secretary was present in response to a subpoena issued yesterday but that he still was under the care of physicians and requested the committee to bear that fact in mind.

Chairman Lenroot then administered the oath. Fall standing with right hand upraised.

Just one question was put. "Do care to make any further statement about the matters under consideration by this committee?"

Fall then read his statement. After the committee had gone into executive session he was brought out of the ante-room where he had been awaiting the decision. He was resting heavily upon the arms of two men, who virtually carried him down the corridor to the room of Senator Elkins of West Virginia, where a lounge was found for him. He seemed dazed and very weak.

His authority to continue the investigation having been challenged by Fall, the committee decided to ask the senate on Monday to remove all doubt by readopting the original resolution authorizing the inquiry. The committee then adjourned until Tuesday.

Fall will be recalled before the committee next Tuesday and should he then decline to answer questions, senators said the issue of authority of the committee to compel an answer and pain of contempt proceedings in the court would be squarely raised.

M'ADOO WILL DEMAND HEARING

LOS ANGELES.—(Associated Press)—William G. McAdoo, candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, will not allow to pass unchallenged what he terms a "wholly unjustified" linking of his name with the oil lease transactions occupying the attention of a senate investigating committee, he made known here today while preparing to leave for Washington.

While the immediate reason for his trip east was the sudden turn in the oil lease case, he said.

SHAKES ALL BUT ONE

NOW SHE'S MRS. GAILLARD T. BOAG

CHICAGO—Gilda Gray, high priestess of the shimmy, has given the shake to many editors and now is known off stage as Mrs. Gaillard T. Boag. The marriage took place here with much ceremony and no syncope.

Matrimony does not mean that Gilda will settle down. Her classic shivers will be continued before the footlights and she even intends to go to Arabia and see how the shiekesses do it there.

JITNEY FLEET BUSY IN CARELESS AKRON

AKRON—Akron's second carless day began this morning with little or no change in the situation. Augmented by the arrival of several more busses from other points in the state, the bus and jitney fleet is operating along the principal streets of the city.

Removal of service from some districts caused hundreds of residents of those districts to walk to their employment this morning. Others were given "lifts" by passing motorists.

The fleet of Ford cars continue to operate today without license plates of any kind. City officials have refused to make any comment on this phase.

Mayor D. C. Rybolt, whose fight for a "nickel or nothing" fare is responsible for the bus system of transportation, declared this morning that the situation is gratifying to city officials and that "perfection of the service will soon be noticeable."

LEAPS TO DEATH UNDER TRAIN

Woman Commits Suicide at Crossing Near Akron

AKRON—(United Press)—Before the horrid gaze of several spectators, Mrs. Jennie Halpin, 55, Cleveland, leaped to her death in front of a fast passenger train Friday night at a crossing at Cuyahoga Falls, near here.

Her body was cut in two beneath the wheels of the engine.

Mrs. Halpin had been a patient at the Fair Oaks Villa sanatorium, Cuyahoga Falls, for the past month. She had been dependent over ill health, attendants there said.

Mrs. Halpin escaped from guards at the sanatorium shortly after 8 p. m. Friday. According to attendants, she ran in the direction of the railroad tracks, presumably to board a train for Cleveland.

Coroner M. B. Crafts was to investigate the case today.

RECEPTION IS GIVEN BY CHURCH TO EVANGELISTS

They will furnish special musical numbers at each evangelistic service, besides leading the chorus choir, which has already held its first rehearsal.

HARD BATTLE IS WAGED AS DEATH NEARS

Former President Slowly Ebbing Away, Says Dr. Grayson

COMPOSED TO MEET CRISIS

Patient Quietly Waits, Realizing Approaching End

WASHINGTON—(Associated Press)—At one p. m. today there was no evidence of any material change in the condition of former President Wilson.

WASHINGTON—(Associated Press)—A physicians' bulletin issued at 11:30 a. m. said:

"Mr. Wilson is growing steadily weaker. He has been able to take very little nourishment. He has had some sleep and has no pain. He recognizes those about him but is too exhausted to talk. Our efforts in the main are directed towards keeping him comfortable."

(Signed) "CARY T. GRAYSON, 'STERLING' BUFFIN, 'H. A. FOWLER'"

"It looks as tho Mr. Wilson would pull thru the day," Dr. Grayson added to the formal text of the medical bulletin, "but that's subject to the hazard of a sudden change."

GRADUALLY SINKING WASHINGTON—(United Press)—His inborn gameness is all that is keeping Woodrow Wilson alive today.

While his mind has been composed to meet the final crisis momentarily drawing nearer, Mr. Wilson's physical resistance to death continues, tho it is gradually growing weaker.

"He is just slowly ebbing away," Dr. Cary T. Grayson, Mr. Wilson's friend and physician, told newspaper men today after issuing this brief official bulletin based on a visit to the sick room at 8:30 a. m.

"Mr. Wilson had a fairly restful night, but continues gradually to lose ground."

Significant as this short statement was, Grayson's informal comments on Mr. Wilson's condition threw more light on the scenes in the room where the war president is dying.

SICK ROOM PICTURED "Solid and worn from a sleepless night and the wound in his own heart, Grayson in broken sentences today gave a graphic picture of that sick room."

"Mr. Wilson is just lying quietly, waiting. He realizes the fight is over. He is making a gallant effort, just the same. It almost breaks one down to see him. He is very brave. He is fully conscious, but is not talking to anybody. He just smiles at us with his eyes."

That is the story as Grayson told it.

The doctors are not trying to do anything but keep Mr. Wilson comfortable. The best they could do would be to no use.

Mrs. Wilson is stilling her heart-break in service, tenderly doing what she can and answering the smile in the weary eyes with a fortitude that both warms and wrings the hearts of those who watch with her.

"We cannot tell," Grayson summed up the situation. "The end may come at any moment."

BRITISH TRIBUTE PAID TO WILSON

LONDON—(Associated Press)—Amplification of Anglo-American friendship into a "neighborliness" that would cement still tighter the relation between the two great English-speaking nations of the world was the general theme taken by speakers at last night's Pilgrims' dinner given in honor of Frank B. Kellogg, the new American ambassador.

But amid the assurances of good will exchanged by Prime Minister MacDonald, Ambassador Kellogg and Sir Esmé Howard, soon to take over his duties as British ambassador at Washington, there was one note of sadness.

3 DIE, 25 MISSING IN FIRE, BLAST

Many Trapped as Kansas City Explosion Wrecks Block

BUSINESS SECTION ROCKED

Sidewalk Torn up and Hurled at Passing Vehicles

KANSAS CITY, Mo., (United Press)—Three bodies were recovered at 9:30 a. m. today following an explosion which wrecked the Bailey-Reynolds Chandler Co. Building in the heart of the business district here.

Fire broke out following the blast and twenty-five others are unaccounted for. Officers believed they were trapped by the flames.

The entire business district was rocked by the explosion.

Windows in many nearby buildings, including that occupied by the federal reserve bank, were shattered. Fire apparatus from all downtown stations was rushed to the scene and firemen made heroic efforts to prevent flames from spreading.

GAS CAUSES BLAST

The explosion was caused by escaping gas in the basement of the building. The Kansas City Gas Co. office is just across the street.

The building was a mass of ruins. The explosion was so great that the concrete sidewalk in front of the building was heaved up. One of the concrete blocks struck a passing automobile and hurled it as it as it was an eggshell.

According to witnesses, the entire front of the building seemed to bulge out and bricks, plaster and debris were hurled into the street. Streaks of flames shot from the basement and the building was filled with fire before occupants could escape.

Many who jumped from second and third story windows were injured and ambulances were pushed to the scene were busy carrying away victims.

WITNESS STORY

J. R. Taylor, employed by the federal reserve bank, gave the United Press the following eye-witness description of the explosion:

"I was just preparing to enter the bank," he said, "when the sidewalk suddenly heaved into the air. The great concrete blocks were hurled at least 12 feet high. They poised for a moment in midair before falling as the force of the explosion as spent. "Plate glass windows of the building were thrown into the street with a crash, as if shoved by some huge hand. A dull roar of deafening intensity accompanied the blast. I was stunned by the force of the explosion. I was completely dazed."

J. V. West, traffic policeman, said: "I heard a terrific shock. Looking up, I saw the building trembling and bulging. The sidewalk raised right from the ground, split into blocks and flew high into the air."

MORE COOPERATION WITH CREAMERY FIRM PLANNED

Plans for better relations between the Equine Union Creamery Co. and the Allen-Co. farm bureau were made Friday at the stockholders' meeting at Memorial hall.

Not a dissenting voice was heard at the close of the morning session when the proposition of entering into a closer alliance with the farm bureau was made by Judge Klinger, who acted as chairman.

A organization committee of five was formed to put across this proposition in the eight counties affected. Those on the committee are Ed. Stalter, president of Allen-Co. Farm Bureau, and H. J. Sunderland, both of Spencerville; H. C. Potthast, Lima; Elmer Kruse, St. Marys; and John Hummon, Leipsic. The task of the committee is to work out a regular directorate plan according to counties. Various other business was brought up at the meeting, which lasted from 10:30 a. m. until 4 p. m. It was brought out that dairy prices under the cooperative plan are much higher now than they were ten years ago when the farmers sold their products individually.

STONES IN STREET SEEN AS MENACE TO TRAFFIC

The large stones in the street at High and Main are a detriment to pedestrians and automobiles, and besides, form a danger to passers-by. Patrolman Charles Hamilton reported to police headquarters Saturday. The stones, besides being a hindrance to turn under the feet of the walking public, with the attendant danger of sprained ankles, are frequently thrown with great force by the wheels of automobiles.

Several pedestrians are said to have been hit by these stones, and one stone was hurled thru the window of the Hartz & Fockler barber shop.

Ten jurors signed the verdict. Following the close of the trial, Mrs. Patterson limped to the jury box and thanked each one of the jurors for their verdict.

BOARD BLAMED IN HEALTH ROW

Mrs. Fechter Denies Story of Fight With Commissioner

NURSE CITES SALARY CUT

Present Conditions Court Only Trouble, She Contends

"Politics and friction within the office of the county health commissioner had nothing to do with my resignation as county health nurse," Mrs. Anna Mae Fechter said Saturday.

A sensational story printed Friday in another Lima afternoon newspaper quoted Mrs. Fechter as charging Dr. J. J. Sutter, county health commissioner, with playing politics and making it impossible for her to continue as county health nurse.

"Conditions within the county board of health are responsible for my decision to resign," Mrs. Fechter said. "As the board is now constituted nothing but trouble can result. SALARY REDUCED."

"My salary was reduced from $135 to $125 without regard to the experience I have held the job. After that I decided I would not work any longer," she continued.

"Dr. Sutter told the board, I understand, that a sanitary inspector could do all the work that I am doing at present and that may have had something to do with their action. Statements that I would not continue to work under Dr. Sutter, however, were unfounded as there is no ill feeling between us," she added.

Mrs. Fechter's resignation was accepted by the county board and a successor will be appointed within the next month. There are said to be several persons seeking the position. Mrs. Fechter has made no plans for the future although she has several propositions under consideration.

Discussion of the milk inspection proposition occupied part of the time but final decision was continued until the next meeting.

TWO HELD FOR GRAND JURY IN ALL NIGHT WINE PARTY

Pete Oper and Lewis Vallis, charged with having received stolen property, waived examination when they appeared for trial in criminal court Friday, and were bound over to grand jury. Each furnished bond of $200.

It is charged that the two men received 40 gallons of wine from Russell Ford, 18, 321 S. Main-st., now in the city jail, and Edwin McGinnis, 19, 1119 Norval-ave., at liberty under $200 bond. The last of the wine, pleaded guilty to stealing the wine from Tony Oliver, 219 W. Fourth-st., Jan. 20. They took it to the billiard room of Vallis at 144 W. Fourth-st., where an all-night party was held, they said. Judson Simmons, 21, who pleaded guilty to the same offense, was released under $200 bond. Ford remains in the city jail, unable to raise the bond.

Discussion of salesmen's plan in relation to credit clearing house was part of the program Friday night at the second meeting of Lima Wholesalers' Credit association. Clint Sealts presided.

The clearing house will be for information of local wholesalers on local retailers and also on retailers in towns adjoining Lima who buy from local dealers.

The meeting Friday was the second of a series. Fifty salesmen employed by wholesalers were guests and at the next meeting members of Lima Retail Merchants association will be invited as guests. It was announced at the meeting.

Ted Flunks On Interview But Foils Prophet

Just as Aurora streaked the hazy horizon with those first faint indications heralding the approach of Prof. Groundhog's annual day of prophetic vision, Ted, member across the sofa seating of Wood-chuck Hollow to the distinguished professor's abode.

"Twas late before Ted trudged back home and dispatched this communication for consumption by the 'News' world of eager readers. Ted reported that his little bird that anonymously and surreptitiously garners and diffuses rare morsels of information into your truly brought forth the intelligence of an impending conspiracy between Bre'r Woodchuck and friend Weathercock. Said conspiracy was to the effect that the hibernating animal, sniff of the atmospheric indications and then fail to receive any ocular demonstration of an ecological reflection superinduced thru penetrating prepenetration of the solar luminary. Then the professor was to remain outside his erstwhile wintry domain and inflict upon genus homo six weeks of open winter weather.

"Fortified with such information I hid myself to the professor's habitation and assumed my vigil. Quickly I procured from said professor a typewritten confession of the above chronicled conspiracy. Simultaneously my little intelligence bird conveyed to me the information of continued increase in the volume of molecular kinetic energy to be dispensed thru the atmosphere during the next 24 hours, together with the probability of further precipitation of uncondensed moisture—an indication of how the big conspiracy already was beginning to manifest itself upon an unsuspecting world.

"Now comes the optimistic climax to this dramatic incident. We still have an appreciable chance of effecting an elimination of such action on the part of the elements because I at all today on the door of the professor's home and wouldn't let him out."

LEGION FUND IS INCREASED

Part of State War Chest is Given for New Building

William Paul Gallagher Post, American Legion, has received a check amounting to $1,022.58 as its share of the state war chest distributed by court order one year ago. The money was contributed by Ohio citizens during the war to provide comforts for soldiers from the state who were overseas.

The check is signed by Col. William G. Proctor, Cincinnati soap manufacturer, who has been custodian of the money. The fund amounting to approximately $128,000 was ordered divided among Legion posts in Ohio, to be used exclusively for the purchase of post quarters or furnishing them.

Division of the money has been delayed because of the question of income tax on the fund. Interest accruing on the money since 1918 made the amount for division larger than expected. The original principal was about $100,000.

Receipt of the money increases the post's building fund to more than $2,500.

Why Lima Placed 84,325 Inches of Classified Advertising In "Lima's Greatest Market" in 1923

Classified advertisers in any community are experienced "go-getters" of business. They can't afford to waste time or money in experiment. They know their city and its newspapers.

The newspaper they select must bring them results. That is why in 1923 84,325 inches of "Classified Advertising" were placed in The Lima News, "Lima's Greatest Market," a greater number by 22,478 inches than were placed in the daily newspaper having the next highest score.

The Lima News not only leads in Classified Advertising but also dominates the field in both local and foreign advertising. This remarkable achievement has been accomplished because of The Lima News Blanket Circulation and the gratifying results to its advertisers.

Here are the Figures

| | 1923 Inches | 1922 Inches |
|----------------------------------|----------------|----------------|
| THE LIMA NEWS | 84,325 | 79,712 |
| The Republican-Gazette | 61,847 | 51,241 |

THE LIMA NEWS EXCESS OVER THE REPUBLICAN-GAZETTE FOR 1923 WAS 22,478 INCHES

These facts and figures demonstrably attest the "want-ad" leadership of THE LIMA NEWS

THE GREATEST SHOW

ARE we becoming a nation of highbrows? More than a million people visited the Metropolitan Museum of Art, in New York City, last year. Roughly, this represents one in every 100 Americans. Not to mention the Museum of Natural History—and the hundreds of similar museums and art galleries all over the country, visited by crowds such as formerly turned out only for a circus.

The nation is swept by an intense interest in science, representing the future—and in historic relics of the past. They want to see first-hand evidence. They want to read about it.

A great scientific era undoubtedly is dawning. You are reminded of this when you hear youngsters of the new generation discussing technicalities of radio. You are reminded again when you observe the crowds that visit the big museums and art galleries, as in the accompanying pen-picture by Artist Satterfield.

This picture is symbolic of the period of history in which we live.

COUNTING SHEEP

IN a contest in Australia, a man counts 19,217 sheep in an hour and 39 minutes, without a single error, and gets a prize. Remarkable accuracy of eyesight and thinking.

But the thing impressing us most is that counting over 19,000 sheep didn't put him to sleep. Hereafter we'll try another system. The brain works strange tricks. Maybe you've had the experience of counting imaginary sheep to put you to sleep, and suddenly the sheep changed into cows.

COTTON FAMINE

A COTTON famine is apt to start about next May 1, F. Holroyd predicts. He is president of the Federation of Master Cotton Spinners' Associations.

He points out that England, which bought 86 per cent of its cotton from America in 1918, now buys only 65 per cent here. Egyptian cotton is going ahead by leaps and bounds.

The boll weevil has been gradually destroying this giant American industry. Poison gases scattered by airplanes may be the eventual solution.

WHEN IS WEALTH A NUISANCE?

SING SING has a prisoner, serving a life sentence, who has a fortune of about $160,000. Like the man all dressed up and no place to go.

However, the money does this "lifer" about as much good as in the case of the average person of great wealth after their riches pass a certain point. When wealth exceeds $300,000, it begins to be a nuisance. At least, we imagine so—never having had the money to try out the theory.

THE TIPPING EVIL

A HEAD waiter at Palm Beach, it's claimed, makes $10,000 tips in the season of 10 weeks. At other times he works elsewhere. His income is estimated at $70,000 a year, and he drives a Rolls-Royce. His Palm Beach headquarters is a "swell hotel," and he is quoted as saying his average tip is $5.

People rave a lot at the tipping system. But most of them like to pay the tips, after all. It's a manifestation of "pecuniary honorific"—displaying the ability to pay.

THE EASY LIFE

STEFANSSON, famous polar explorer, says he will make no more journeys into the unknown regions. Exploring, he laments, has lost its thrill. The flying machine, radio and modern inventions have largely taken the uncertainty out of exploring, and have brought ease and comfort in place of old-time hardships and suffering.

BRYAN'S WEEKLY BIBLE TALK

What Israel Learned at Sinai

Joshua, A Man Undimmed

Text of Today's Bible Talk by Mr. Bryan

(Numbers 14: 1-10)

And all the congregation lifted up their voice, and cried; and the people wept that night.

And all the children of Israel murmured against Moses and against Aaron: and the whole congregation said unto them, Would God that we had died in the land of Egypt!

And they said one to another, Let us make a captain, and let us return into Egypt.

Then Moses and Aaron fell on their faces before all the assembly of the congregation of the children of Israel.

And Joshua the son of Nun, and Caleb the son of Jephunneh, which were of them that searched the land, rent their clothes.

And they spake unto all the company of the children of Israel, saying, The land, which we passed thro' to search it, is an exceedingly good land.

If the Lord delight in us, then he will bring us into this land, and give it us: a land which floweth with milk and honey.

Only rebel not ye against the Lord: neither fear ye the people of the land; for they are bread for us: their defense is departed from them, and the Lord is with us: fear them not.

But all the congregation bade stone them with stones. And the glory of the Lord appeared in the tabernacle of the congregation before all the children of Israel.

BY WILLIAM JENNINGS BRYAN

That chapter in the ever continuing history of the Children of Israel which deals with the report brought back to them by the twelve men sent ahead to spy out the land of Canaan, introduces us to one of the great characters of the Old Testament—Joshua, the son of Nun.

He was of the tribe of Ephraim and his name was Othniel until Moses bestowed upon him the name of Joshua, or Joshua, as he is better known. A commission, as it would be called today, was appointed by Moses, one from each tribe, to make an expedition into Canaan, the Promised Land toward which they journeyed to report on the prospects, and Joshua was one of the twelve commissioners.

The twelve joined in a report which represented Canaan as a land that "floweth with milk and honey." They reached Canaan at the time of the first ripe grapes, and spent forty days in a tour of investigation. They carried back a cluster of grapes so large that "they bare it between two upon a staff." The picture of this huge bunch of grapes is familiar to all Sunday School children. They also carried back pomegranates and figs as specimens of the first fruit of the land.

THE TEN WHO LACKED FAITH

Thus far, all the spies were agreed that they were divided on the question: Were the children of Israel strong enough to take possession of the land? Upon this proposition, ten lacked faith and were frightened by the number and stature of the inhabitants of the promised land. They said:

"Nevertheless the people be strong that dwell in the land, and the cities are walled, and very great; and moreover we saw the children of Anak there."

"The Amalekites dwell in the land of the south, and the Hittites, and Jebusites, and the Amorites, dwell in the mountains, and the Canaanites dwell by the sea, and by the coast of Jordan."

Caleb and Joshua, two of the twelve, were confident of the superior strength of the Children of Israel and favored an immediate advance into the land.

Upon the question of ability to conquer the inhabitants, Caleb and Joshua presented a minority report and created a great stir in the camp—such a stir as a minority report sometimes creates in a political convention or a religious assembly.

Great reforms, it may be added, usually begin in a minority report.

Caleb said to the whole assembly:

"Joshua speaking for himself and Joshua, still the people before Moses, and said, 'Let us go up at once, and possess it; for we are well able to overcome it.'"

"But the men that went up with him said, 'We be not able to go up against the people; for they are stronger than we.'"

"And they brought up an evil report of the land, which they had searched unto the children of Israel, saying, The land, thru which we have gone to search it, is a land that eateth up the inhabitants thereof; and all the people that we saw in it are men of great stature."

"And there we saw the giants, the sons of Anak, which come of the giants; and we were in our own sight as grasshoppers, and so we were in their sight."

The whole congregation was excited and "cried; and the people wept that night." The Children of Israel "murmured against Moses and against Aaron"—as they had often done—"and the whole congregation said unto them:

"TENTING MOSES' PATIENCE

"Would God that we had died in the land of Egypt! or would God we had died in this wilderness!"

"And wherefore hath the Lord brought us into this land, to fall by the sword, that our wives and our children should be a prey? Were it not better for us to return into Egypt?"

They even said one to another, 'Let us make a captain, and let us return into Egypt.'

It must have been discouraging to Moses to hear these taunts and insinuations, and many wonderful instances of God's love and power. His patience was tested as sorely as was the patience of Job—he certainly deserved the description that the Lord gave to him:

"Now the man Moses was very meek, above all the men which were upon the face of the earth."

The Children of Israel had quenched their thirst with the water that flowed from a smitten rock; they had gathered manna from the ground and they had feasted on quail sent especially for their table. They had been guided by a pillar of fire by night and a pillar of cloud by day. Time and time again they had found God's strength sufficient for them—and still they complained.

JOSHUA STEPS FORTH

It was at this point, that Joshua stepped forward and tried to infuse into the Children of Israel the confidence that made his own and Caleb's heart strong:

"The land which we passed thro' to search it, is an exceedingly good land."

"If the Lord delight in us, then he will bring us into this land, and give it us: a land which floweth with milk and honey."

"Only rebel not ye against the Lord: neither fear ye the people of the land; for they are bread for us: their defense is departed from them, and the Lord is with us: fear them not."

But his words did not convince the unappreciative and ungrateful people to whom they were addressed; "but all the congregation bade stone them with stones."

Then follows the Lord's rebuke and the successful plea of Moses in their behalf—that is, successful in securing entrance into the Promised Land, delayed until after those guilty of rebellion had passed away.

JOSHUA'S SPLENDID CONFIDENCE

While a lesson may be drawn from the lack of faith shown by the Children of Israel after so many proofs of God's care, and by the punishment visited upon them, there is another lesson of even greater value to be drawn from the optimism of Joshua and Caleb. We can use their splendid confidence for our own encouragement.

A great deal is said today about optimism and pessimism and we have many definitions and illustrations of each. When we come to speak of large affairs, the optimist and the pessimist differ in one essential particular; namely, the optimist takes into account the infinite power of the Almighty, while the pessimist bases his estimate upon the human elements only.

Here is where faith in God counts mightily in the achievements of the individual and in the protection of the public. When the power needed for the accomplishment of a thing is more than man can command, the pessimist says, "It cannot be done," and therefore does not try. Confronted by the same conditions, the optimist, if he has the right attitude, says, "It can be done," and makes the attempt, trusting God to open the way—and God opens the way.

HAVING FAITH IN GOD

Joshua and Caleb had all the information that the doubting ten possessed; they were just as well aware as the other ten of the magnitude of the undertaking, of the obstacles that stood in the way, and of the fighting that was before them, but, relying upon God as their defense, they were undimmed.

They did not have for their inspiration the words spoken later by David: "The angel of the Lord encampeth round about them that fear Him, and delivereth them."

They did not have for their encouragement a record of the proof which still later Elisha gave to his timid servant when at the petition of the great prophet his eyes were opened so that he could see the horses and chariots of fire that waited upon the mountain top. But they had the same faith in the same God; they trusted, and they won out.

And so we can trust and win.

Every life is filled with turning points—with moments when the decision is momentous. As we cannot look into the future and measure the relative importance of the acts that make up our daily life, we cannot know which of the decisions that we make will mean most in our lives. But if we trust at all times and decide all questions by doing what he believes to be right, according to the best light that we can secure, we will be safe.

THE CHRISTIAN'S ONE RULE

There is only one rule for the Christian; namely, to perform each duty as if it were all important. No matter how difficult the path or how insurmountable the obstacles may seem, God opens the way for His work and gives to His servants the strength they need for each trial.

If it is His way, we need not be afraid to walk in it. If it is His work, we need not be afraid to undertake it, for His arm is strong enough to bring victory to His cause.

We do not know why a grain of wheat can lay the foundations for a harvest, but we know that each year since man came upon the earth, God has given us bread in due season. It is man's duty to sow the seed, and man will only do his part. Nature has laws that are inviolable and constantly at work; man goes "into partnership with Nature," so to speak, and avails himself of a power immeasurably superior to his own.

OPTIMISM IN THE HIGHEST SENSE

So, back of truth are the same inviolable laws that bring certain victory to the plans of the Almighty. Joshua and Caleb urged the Children of Israel to go into partnership with God and thus avail themselves of the infinite power of the Heavenly Father; so each one of us can go into partnership with God by taking His side and aligning ourselves with the forces that bring triumph to every righteous cause.

We can be optimistic in the highest sense, not by ignoring difficulties or by leaving the work to others, but by confidently taking the side that is right and relying upon God's aid as we endeavor to do our part in working out the plans of the Creator.

Thus we may hasten the coming of God's kingdom for which we daily pray.

Central And St. Rose Win Contests From South High And Delphos St. Johns

Immense Crowds Witness Central High and St. Rose Basketeers Win Games

That basketball is the major winter sport, and is fast taking the place of the other most popular games of American youth and athletics, seems an assured fact. Each year it is growing in favor, not alone among athletes and athletic directors, but the public. "And its only in its infancy," said a noted college coach a short time ago.

In no wise does it differ in Lima from other parts of the country. Friday night saw two important games. A struggle between Central and South H., which was as bitterly fought and as jealously spoken of as the proverbial sporting feud between Harvard and Yale. It was a bitter defeat for South; it was a sweet victory for Central.

A game just as important to the devotees of the school and contest between the Central and Delphos St. Johns. The latter, a team that has won every game this season, was defeated by the Central. Central Wins St. Rose Five First Game Wins From Delphos By 25-14

Sudden spurts of offensive strength in the second and third quarters enabled the speedy Central high quintet to win from the South team in the first game of the city championship series at the Central gym Friday night. Central was victorious by a 25 to 14 count.

Also held down by the efficient work of the South guards in the first and last parts of the game the Central lads with fast passwork and clever floor work managed to sink fielder after fielder in the middle of the game and thus piled up a lead that was never topped by the Tigers.

More than a thousand spectators that crammed every nook and cranny of the gym were thrilled at all moments by the fast and hard playing, by the light that was shown by both teams and by the extremely fine sportsmanship that was evident.

The Central machine failed to get under way in the first period, passes going wild and erratic floorwork holding the teams on even terms throughout the first quarter. The count at the end of this quarter was 5 to 4 with the Centralites on the long end.

In the second quarter the uptown lads broke loose with a volley of rapid short passes and accurate basket shooting that had the South team bewildered. Much better basketball and it was evident in this quarter and the playing of both teams was noticeable.

WHERE CENTRAL WON

It was the first part of the second half that enabled the Central team to swing into the lead that won the game. A few seconds after the half King ambled under the basket and scored on a short pass from Bagh. Four more baskets came in quick succession two by Bagh and as many by King. By the end of the third quarter the "Light Green Dragons" were ahead, 15 to 8.

At the end of the fourth quarter the Central team had gained the admiration of the crowd for keeping at it to the very end. The defeat was inevitable. At the end of the game the Central team was victorious by a 25 to 14 count.

KING AND EARLY SHINE

King of Central and Early of South were the scintillating stars of the game. Early's great work in the first quarter was admirable and deserves special mention. For all around playing King exhibited one of the finest games seen in Lima this year. He not only made four baskets but his "following in" was accurate and effective. His work on the defense was very creditable.

In a fast preliminary the Central second team had to extend itself to 15 to 13 count. The second team went into the game too cocksure and found themselves in hot water many times during the game although rapid work in the last quarter pulled the team out of the fire. It was a fourth straight win for the second team.

VET STARS THINK CHASE EQUAL OF GEORGE SISLER

George Sisler, who will manage the St. Louis Browns this year, is probably the greatest active player.

Sisler, when at the top of his game, voted the most valuable player in the American League, suffered an eye affliction that has apparently disabled him as an active player.

Of course Sisler has hopes that he will be able to play, but even if he does, it is a good bet that he will no longer be the peerless George. There is certain to be a lack of confidence that will affect his play.

In baseball two first basemen stand out as the greatest of all time, George Sisler and Hal Chase. Who was the greater?

Despite the admitted greatness of Sisler, the veteran stars of the American League cannot forget the remarkable feats of Chase, the player who really perfected the style of play that is now standard with first basemen.

As a matter of fact Sisler can do only one thing better than Chase, bat, and the margin is rather slight.

In the field it would be utterly impossible to ask any player to excel Chase. He was the perfection of grace and accuracy. He had a wonderful arm, his aim was deadly. When it came to taking balls with the gloved hand, or digging them out of the ground, his work was uncanny.

Chase was a 300 batsman and had few equals as a place hitter. On the hit-and-run he was almost as apt as Eddie Foster, conceded to be the Sisler ranks as a wonder, but to say he is better than the great Hal Chase would bring a rising vote of dissent from the veteran American League stars.

GOSSIP OF THE RING

NEW YORK—(Associated Press)—Besides holding the featherweight and junior lightweight titles, Johnny Dundee, veteran of more than 300 ring battles, still retains recognition as the leading blaster of flat championship hopes.

The scalp of Pal Moran, New Orleans lightweight, was added to the bounding Italian's belt last night at Madison Square Garden, where Johnny won the judge's decision in a furious 15-round match.

To Moran's credit it should be said he was not badly beaten. In fact, a spectacular rally in the last five rounds when he had Dundee battered and bloody, almost turned the tide which was overwhelmingly in Johnny's favor for the first two-thirds of the battle.

GIBBONS TO BOX FIRPO

Frank McCormick, president of the Minneapolis boxing club, offered a $100,000 purse Friday for a ten-round no-decision bout between Tom Gibbons, of St. Paul and Luis Firpo, to be held in Minneapolis early in May. The offer was telegraphed to Eddie Long, Gibbons' manager, who is now in Chicago.

McCormick is willing that the boxers split the purse to suit themselves. He has called the offer to Firpo. Should the match take place it will be held in the open air. So far as Gibbons is concerned it is claimed that both Long and Kane, managers, have accepted.

GOOZEMAN-EDDIE SHAY

Ernie Gozeman, formerly of California, now of Milwaukee, and Eddie Shea, of Chicago, the clever 120 pounder, are matched to 'box ten rounds in the windup of the George Rickard afraid of losing Firpo match.

Pickups Are Beaten By Legion

WAPAK—A pickup team composed of members of the Lima Business College and the Lima Leads played the Wapak American Legion Friday night, losing 23-18. The Canadian Sensational Wanderers, who were booked to play the Legion, failed to put in an appearance.

Baker, Wapak center, and Schulte, forward, were the stars of the contest. Schulte made eleven points while Baker had twelve. Cook, of the Lima team, had eight points.

WAPAK will play a team of former Ohio State stars here next Friday.

The Wapak Triangles defeated the Lima White Stars in the prelim.

AMONG THE CAGERS

Two more sets of games will be run off today at the "Y" in the Church and Sunday School leagues. This afternoon in the junior organization the U. B. meets Trinity, Central Church of Christ, and First Baptist plays the Market-st Presbyterian five. The first game is scheduled to start at 2 o'clock.

Tonight South Side Church of Christ plays the United Brethren in the first tilt; Central Church of Christ plays the Baptist team in the second; and in the last contest Market-st Presbyterian will hook up with the league-leading Grace M. E. quintet.

Market-st Presbyterian is leading the Sunday School loop with three wins and one defeat, with Trinity and the United Brethren tied for second place with two wins and a loss apiece. Grace M. E. and the First Baptists have three wins and no defeats in the older league, but it is quite likely that Grace may have undisputed possession after tonight, as the Baptists meet formidable foes in Central Church of Christ's cagers, and Grace should win over the Presbyterian crew.

Elks Bowling Tourney Is Begun

Bowlers representing Elks lodges from all the United States are beginning to make their appearance in Lima for the big seventh annual bowling tournament conducted by the Elks' Bowling Association of America, which will begin at 8 o'clock Saturday night at the Elks' alleys.

All six alleys will be taken up from eight o'clock until midnight by Columbus and Lima five-men teams. Eddie Gettrost's Elks, Officers, H. B. Conklin's Wrecking Crew, and Frames' Elks, all of Columbus, Shook's Laundry and Norval Hotel, of Lima, will bowl in the first shift at eight, while Elks' Timmerman Elks, Barr Hotel, local teams, Durham's Elks and Klunk's Columbus, will compete.

Thirty-six two-men teams are scheduled to bowl on Sunday along with twelve more five-men teams. Bowling will start at 9:50 a. m. and continue until midnight.

Delphos High Goes Down To Defeat

DELPHOS—Before a large crowd of Delphos basketball fans the Delphos High quintet went down to defeat in their first battle of the season. The final score was 13-21. Ridge High was the victor.

The latter team clinched the game by an early start, and by consistent long shooting, they kept the edge all thru the fray. The Delphos line of defense was strong, but the Ridge warriors tossed them over their heads from the center of the floor.

The local boys were crippled in that they could not shoot at long range and showed that they were handicapped by not having large enough gym to run off rehearsals in. Ridge guarded closely, and Delphos was unable to sink a short range shot with any consistency.

The floor at Ridge was large and long, making it a foreign land for the local aggregation, and the defeat, must be credited to that fact.

Despite all the handicaps, Meekins showed stellar form at forward, while Bigelow worked the guard position with fine skill.

Next game is not scheduled, as yet, according to Coach Barsley, who has done fine work in whipping a team into shape.

Lineup: Delphos High: Roberts, R. F., Meekins, L. F., Hummer, center, Bigelow, R. G. and McDonald, L. G.

Britton Loyal Anyway

They can't say Jack Britton isn't loyal. The old welterweight champion has remained under the management of Danny Morgan throughout his career as a fighter. Morgan's skillful matchmaking and promotional genius made Britton rich and the Chicago Irishman hasn't forgotten it. Which is more than you can say for a lot of other fighters.

A Second Babe Ruth Signed By Giants

NEW YORK—Paul Florence, sensational catcher and all-around athlete of Georgetown University was sought by thirteen other league clubs before he signed 1924 with the New York Giants.

Called by Clark Griffith of the Washington Senators, a "second Babe Ruth" Florence starred as a basketball, baseball, and football player at Georgetown. He had one year of study but decided to report to the Giants this spring declaring that he is gambling with baseball as against a preference for law, as did Frank Frisch.

Meanwell and Wisconsin

Coach Meanwell has been tutoring Wisconsin basketball teams since 1912. During the 12 seasons he has guided the court destiny of the Badgers his proteges have romped off with three championships, besides disputing as many others. In 1922 Wisconsin also tied for second place, while in 1915 and 1917 it finished in a tie for third.

GAMENESS KEEPS WILSON ALIVE

The critical illness of Woodrow Wilson, MacDonnell reported with emotion to the former president, saying:

"This is a moment when partisanship and party allegiance sink into insignificance. The whole English-speaking world is standing with bated breath waiting for further word of this great American."

Without any evidence of struggle, the former president is waiting in quiet resignation for his summons to come. His life is ebbing very slowly but very surely and at almost any moment he may speed away from the battle of watchfulness he has been waging.

When morning ended the long vigil, while his doctors and nurses and his devoted wife kept near his bedside, Mr. Wilson was still alive but to the skilled eyes of doctors and nurses, he had lost ground.

It was a surprise to Dr. Grayson, Mr. Wilson's close friend and physician, that he tested thru the night, after he had lost hope in the former president's life. But Grayson's scientific knowledge and experience told him it was impossible, although still he hoped.

The gray fog of dawn found the Wilson home in darkness, except for one or two windows where dim lights shone. All other lights in the house were put out shortly after Dr. Grayson issued the last bulletin of the night at 10:20 p. m. which said:

"Mr. Wilson's temperature is normal. His respiration is 20, pulse 64. He has gradually lost ground. He has no pain. Our chief present concern is to insure a restful night."

Grayson remained all night at the Wilson home. The strain of seeing his patient die has put a mark on Dr. Grayson which will take time to eradicate.

HINTS TO MRS. WILSON
WASHINGTON—(United Press)—The person who has done more to keep the world from forgetting Woodrow Wilson is today standing by his bedside watching him as he breathes.

Mrs. Woodrow Wilson "is just the best woman ever," Dr. Cary Grayson, Mr. Wilson's doctor, said today to a reporter.

"She knows, of course, that the end is not far off," Grayson said, "but she has not given up hope."

Mrs. Wilson this afternoon, gave the former president a little nourishment when he awoke from a restful sleep of several hours. She personally attended to his needs. Dr. Grayson said that Mr. Wilson seemed more comfortable and a little stronger as the result of his sleep.
